Best Second Hand Stationary Air Compressor in Netherlands: 2024 Price List, Quotes & Buying Guide

Looking for a second hand stationary air compressor in the Netherlands? Prices vary wildly, and 70% of buyers overpay due to lack of market insight. Let's cut through the confusion and reveal exact costs, price per piece ranges, and strategies to secure ROI-focused deals.

What's the Real Price of Second Hand Stationary Air Compressors?

In 2024, stationary air compressor prices for refurbished units in the Netherlands range from EUR1,800 to EUR15,000+ depending on:

- Power output (5HP to 100HP models)
- Brand (Atlas Copco vs. budget Chinese imports)
- Maintenance history

A recent survey showed Dutch factories save 42% buying used industrial compressors versus new - but only if they avoid "as-is" units without service records.

Case Study: How Rotterdam Metalworks Saved EUR9,200

By purchasing a second hand stationary air compressor (2019 Atlas Copco GA75) through a certified reseller, this company paid EUR11,300 vs. EUR20,500 for new. The unit came with 6-month warranty and duty cycle logs.

4 Steps to Get Competitive Quotations

Dutch buyers often get trapped comparing only sticker prices. Smart negotiation focuses on:

- Total lifecycle cost: Include energy efficiency ratings (kWh consumption)
- Supplier reputation: 68% of industrial buyers prioritize EU-based refurbishers
- Hidden fees: Transport from Germany/Poland adds EUR300-EUR800
- Payment terms: Some vendors offer 0% VAT if exporting outside Netherlands

2024 Market Trend: Certified Pre-Owned Compressors Dominate

The Netherlands' push for circular manufacturing boosted second hand stationary air compressor sales by 19% last year. Key players like Boels Rental now sell fully refurbished units with:

- New piston rings & valves
- ISO 1217 performance tests
- Tax-deductible green certificates
