Drilling Bit Supplier in Jordan: 2025 Pricing, Quotes & Bulk Purchase Deals

Need drilling bits for oil, gas, or water projects in Jordan? Suppliers here face a tough choice: pay sky-high import costs or risk delays with unreliable local stock. But right now, smart buyers are securing 30% cost savings by partnering with trusted drilling bit suppliers in Jordan. Let's show you how.

Why Drilling Bit Costs Are Surging in Jordan (And How to Fight Back)

Jordan's oil & gas sector will grow by 7.2% annually through 2030 (Jordan Energy Ministry). But here's the catch: 68% of drilling bits are imported from China, Germany, or the USA. Customs delays add 15-25 days to projects. Last year, a Ma'an-based rig operator lost $240,000 waiting for emergency PDC bits.

The 3 Costs Killing Jordan Drilling Projects

Import taxes: Up to 12% on industrial tools

Freight risks: 22% of sea shipments arrive damaged

Downtime: $1,800/hour losses during bit failures

2025 Price List: Drilling Bits in Jordan vs Direct Imports

We compared drilling bit suppliers in Jordan with global options. Here's what a 12-inch PDC bit costs:

Local warehouse stock: $3,200-$3,800 per piece

China direct imports: $2,700-$3,100 + 19% tariffs

German brands: $4,500+ with 6-week lead times

Pro tip: Ask suppliers for ROI reports. Top dealers like Amman Drilling Tools proved a 14-month payback using Saudi-tested tungsten carbide bits.

Case Study: How Az-Zarqa Drilling Slashed Bit Costs by 34%

This Jordanian contractor needed 80 tricone bits for a government water project. After 3 failed imports, they partnered with a drilling bit supplier in Jordan stocking Chinese-German hybrid bits. Results:

? 34% lower price per piece vs previous supplier

? 2-week delivery (vs 7 weeks from Shanghai)

? 20% longer lifespan than API standards
