Second Hand Air Tank Price in Turkey 2024: Cost, Supplier Deals & Buying Guide

Need a second hand air tank in Turkey but confused about prices and suppliers? You're not alone. Over 60% of industrial buyers in Istanbul and Ankara now opt for pre-owned air tanks to cut costs without sacrificing quality. Let's break down price trends, hidden fees, and how to get the best quotation today.

Why Turkey's Second Hand Air Tank Market Is Booming

Turkey's construction and manufacturing sectors grew 4.8% in 2023, driving demand for affordable compressed air solutions. A used 100L steel air tank sells for TL8,500-TL15,000 locally - up to 40% cheaper than new units. German and Chinese suppliers dominate imports, but local refurbishers like Kompresor Market offer 6-month warranties to compete.

Real-World Savings: Bursa Factory Case Study

A metal workshop in Bursa saved TL120,000 last year by swapping three new 200L tanks for refurbished models. "We paid TL28,000 per piece with free maintenance," said owner Mehmet Yilmaz. "The ROI came in 14 months."

2024 Price List & What Determines Costs

- Capacity: 50L tanks start at TL4,200; 500L tanks hit TL32,000+
- Condition: Lightly used units cost 25% more than "as-is" stock
- Material: Stainless steel models command 18-22% premiums

Watch for hidden costs! Shipping from Izmir to Van adds TL1,800-TL3,500. Always ask suppliers for a breakdown of "price per piece" vs. total project quotes.

Getting Reliable Quotes: 3 Insider Tips

- Compare at least 5 suppliers (local + import)
- Verify ASME or CE certifications
- Request pressure test reports dated within 6 months

Top wholesalers like MakinaPazari and Hirdavaticim now offer live price tracking tools. Last month's average second hand air tank price in Turkey dropped 7% due to surplus stock from closed Anatolian factories.

Future Outlook: Will Prices Keep Falling?

Turkey's new 15% VAT exemption for industrial recycling (effective July 2024) could push used air tank
