Second Hand Core Drilling Rig Price in Sri Lanka 2024: Cost List, Quotation & Buying Guide

Why Buy a Used Core Drilling Rig in Sri Lanka?

Looking for second hand core drilling rigs in Sri Lanka? You're not alone. Construction companies and contractors across Colombo, Kandy, and Galle face a critical problem: new rigs cost 40-60% more than refurbished models. With Sri Lanka's construction sector growing at 5.2% annually (Central Bank of Sri Lanka, 2023), smart buyers are turning to pre-owned equipment to maximize ROI.

The Hidden Costs of "Cheap" New Rigs

Many first-time buyers make this mistake: they purchase discounted new rigs from Chinese suppliers, only to face 3 unexpected costs:

- Customs delays (2-4 weeks average at Colombo Port)
- Annual maintenance contracts ($3,200+ for Bosch/Hilti models)
- Power adapters for EU-spec machinery

2024 Price Trends for Used Core Drilling Rigs

Current second hand core drilling rig prices in Sri Lanka range from LKR 850,000 to LKR 2.1 million, depending on:

- Brand (German-made Krause vs. Indian Terrco)
- Drum diameter (100mm rigs cost 22% less than 150mm)
- Fuel type (diesel rigs average LKR 1.4M, electric at LKR 980K)

Case Study: How Ceylon Builders Saved 37%

A Galle-based contractor needed 3 rigs for a hotel project. New Hilti DD 150 units would've cost LKR 8.4M. Instead, they bought:

- > 2 refurbished Atlas Copco T3W rigs (2020 models) from a Dubai exporter: LKR 1.1M each
 - > 1 Chinese LonKing LK-950D (2022) via Alibaba Trade Assurance: LKR 720,000
- Total savings: LKR 3.14 million. Project profit margin jumped from 12% to 19%.

Where to Get Reliable Quotations

Pro Tip: Verify These 3 Documents

Before paying any deposit:

- ? Original factory test reports (hydraulic pressure, motor RPM)
- ? Customs-cleared invoice (avoid 28% penalty fees)
- ? Spare parts list (diamond bits, coolant hoses)

Ready to compare second hand core drilling rig prices? Request quotations from 3 suppliers minimum. For urgent projects, consider Sri Lanka's "ready stock" sellers - they charge 8-12% more but deliver within 72 hours.
