

Second Hand Drilling Rod for Sale in Denmark: 2024 Price List, Quotation & ROI Guide

Second Hand Drilling Rod for Sale in Denmark: 2024 Price List, Quotation & ROI Guide

Looking to buy second hand drilling rods in Denmark but confused about price per piece or how to negotiate with suppliers? You're not alone. Over 65% of construction companies in Scandinavia report budget cuts in 2024, making used equipment sales jump 22% this year. Let's break down exactly what you need to know.

Why Prices for Used Drilling Rods Are Rising (And How to Save)

Denmark's renewable energy push means more geothermal projects - 153 started in 2023 alone. This surge created a 10-15% price increase for second hand drilling rod price in Denmark compared to 2022. But smart buyers still save:

German-made used rods cost 30% less than new ones (avg. EUR180/meter vs EUR260)

Chinese suppliers offer quotes at EUR120-150/meter, but check CE certifications

Local suppliers like Hardy Trading ApS provide VAT-free deals for bulk orders

Case Study: Copenhagen Firm Cuts Costs by 44%

Vestol Construction needed 80 tons of drilling rods for a wind farm project. Instead of buying new, they:

Compared 6 supplier quotes over 2 weeks

Tested sample rods from Poland and Denmark

Secured a 3-year warranty deal at EUR165/meter

Result? Their total ROI improved by 19% versus buying new equipment.

2024 Price Guide: What to Expect

Current price per piece ranges in Denmark (ex-works):

Standard 3-meter rod: EUR400-EUR550

Threaded API rods: EUR700-EUR900

Bulk orders (10+ tons): 8-12% discount

Pro tip: Always ask suppliers for assembly cost estimates. Some Danish companies like BoreTech include free tool joint inspection worth EUR250/order.

3 Red Flags When Buying Used

1. Rust deeper than 0.3mm surface layer
