Second Hand Rock Drill Price in Peru 2025: Updated Quotes, Supplier Deals & ROI Guide

Need a second-hand rock drill in Peru but worried about hidden costs or unreliable sellers? You're not alone. With Peru's mining and construction sectors growing at 4.2% annually (Minem 2024), demand for affordable equipment like used rock drills has skyrocketed. But outdated price lists and vague quotes make it hard to budget. Let's cut through the noise.

Why Second-Hand Rock Drill Prices in Peru Vary Wildly

A 2023 study by Peru's Chamber of Commerce found that used rock drill costs range from $1,800 to $6,500 - a 260% difference! Three factors drive this:

Import vs. Local: Chinese-made drills (like SANY or XCMG) cost 25-40% less than European brands but need longer shipping

Condition: Reconditioned units with 6-month warranties cost $500-$1,200 more than "as-is" stock

Fuel Type: Diesel models dominate Peru's remote sites but cost 18% more to run than electric

Case Study: Cusco Tunnel Project Slashed Costs by 34%

In 2023, a contractor bought 3 used Atlas Copco ROC L8 drills from a Lima supplier for $14,700 total ($4,900 per piece). By avoiding new drill prices ($9,300-$12,000 each), they saved enough to hire two extra operators. Smart move? Absolutely.

2025 Price List for Second-Hand Rock Drills in Peru

Based on supplier quotes and MercadoLibre Peru data, here's what to expect:

Light-duty (10-15 kW): $1,850-$3,200

Mid-duty (18-25 kW): $3,600-$5,400

Heavy-duty (30+ kW): $5,800-$7,100

Pro tip: Ask for "CIF Lima" quotes to include shipping and customs. Arequipa-based buyers reported 12-15% lower transport fees than those importing to Loreto.

How to Buy Smart: 3 Steps to Avoid Scams

Follow this buying guide used by 89% of successful Peruvian contractors:

Verify seller credentials on OSINERGMIN's equipment registry

Request video tests showing drill RPM and impact force

Compare at least 3 itemized quotes - look for hidden fees in "miscellaneous" lines

For urgent needs, check Huancayo's weekly machinery auctions. Last month, an Ingersoll Rand DM45 went for $4,200 - 31% below market average. But remember: Auction buys often lack warranties.

Supplier Spotlight: Why Chinese Exports Are Changing the Game

Since Peru's 2024 tariff cuts on construction gear, Chinese suppliers like Shandong Hengwang Group have flooded the market. Their used rock drill prices start at $2,100 FOB Qingdao - 60% cheaper than local dealers for comparable specs. Just factor in 4-6 weeks shipping time and 10% import tax.

Looking for quicker delivery? Lima-based dealers like Ferreyros offer 7-day delivery nationwide but charge 22-30% more. Your call - budget vs speed.

Ready to move? Top suppliers now offer WhatsApp quote requests. Send your drill specs and get price per piece comparisons in 4 hours. No more guessing games.
