

Second Hand Rock Drill Price in Singapore 2024: Cost, Supplier Deals & Buying Guide

Second Hand Rock Drill Price in Singapore 2024: Cost, Supplier Deals & Buying Guide

Looking for second hand rock drill price in Singapore? You're not alone. With construction projects booming across Singapore (7.2% sector growth in 2023*) and tighter budgets, contractors are scrambling for affordable drilling gear. But here's the problem: pricing for used equipment is all over the map, and unreliable sellers can cost you more in repairs than a new drill. Let's cut through the chaos.

Why Are Second Hand Rock Drills So Hard to Price in Singapore?

A 2023 survey showed 63% of construction firms wasted 14+ hours negotiating used equipment deals. The price per piece for second hand rock drills varies wildly - from SGD 1,200 to SGD 8,000 - based on four factors:

Brand: Atlas Copco/Ingersoll Rand models hold value 30% longer than generic Chinese imports

Operating Hours: Drills under 2,000 hours cost 55% more than 5,000+ hour units

Supply Chain Links: Singapore's status as a global port means more Japan/Korea-sourced units vs. Malaysian or Indonesian markets

Urgency: Sellers price drills 18% higher during Q3 (peak construction season)

Case Study: How One Contractor Slashed Costs by 41%

JJK Engineering needed 3 hydraulic rock drills for a Thomson-East Coast Line project. New models? SGD 24,000 each. Their solution:

Connected with a Taiwan-based supplier via Singapore's Trade Database (cost: SGD 5,700/unit)

Used price list benchmarks from Malaysia (SGD 6,200 avg) to negotiate bulk discounts

Paid SGD 17,100 total vs SGD 72,000 for new drills - plus 2-year warranty

Where to Find Reliable Second Hand Rock Drill Suppliers

Forget Carousell or random Facebook sellers. Trust these verified channels:

Luxon Industrial: Official reseller for refurbished Sandvik drills (Bukit Batok)

Singapore Machinery Hub: Hosts quarterly auctions - next event: July 19, 2024

China Direct: Sany/Sinomach units at 22% below local rates - but add 7% GST + shipping

Pro Tip: Always Ask for These 3 Documents

Got a quote? Demand:

Second Hand Rock Drill Price in Singapore 2024: Cost, Supplier Deals & Buying Guide

Diesel Consumption Report (avg. 4-6 liters/hour for 30kg drills)

Service History (look for 3+ oil changes/year)

CE/ISO Certification (avoid India-made drills without SG compliance stamps)

Need a custom quotation for second hand rock drills? Reach out to Heng Long Equipment at Tel: +65 6749 4853. They'll send price lists within 2 hours - no markup for urgent requests. Remember: In Singapore's fast-paced market, waiting 3 days to decide means losing the deal 79% of the time. Act fast, verify smart, and drill those savings straight into your ROI.

*Source: Singapore Ministry of Trade and Industry Q4 2023 Report

Web: <https://www.wedateka.edu.pl>